Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to enquire as to whether your school would be interested in holding a fundraising event in support of our charitable organisation.

Bear for an Angel is a local, non-profit organisation that provides a support network for parents and families affected by pregnancy/infant loss. We provide bereaved families with our Memory Bear packages to acknowledge the life of their precious baby. These can be a great comfort to the bereaved. We aim to reduce the feeling of isolation for parents and families affected by pregnancy/infant loss by offering a support network that connects those in similar grief. We also donate our Bags of Love to Ipswich hospital EPAU department - for parents and family members affected by pregnancy loss,

To do this, we rely solely on donations and fundraising and support from the public and community. As I'm sure you will agree, fundraising and charitable support can be great for children in school as it can be both fun, and educational with regards to what the charity's work, and why it is great to support small organisations where possible.

We would like to propose a fundraising idea for your school to get involved. As our organisation provides bears in memory of the little lives lost in pregnancy and infancy, we propose the idea of "Bring a Teddy to School Day" - with a minimum donation of £1 per child. We believe this will be enjoyable for the children, and they can feel accomplished and proud in their contribution to a charitable organisation.

We would also be very interested to hear any further ideas you may have with regards to your support. We are extremely grateful for any donations and fundraising possible and it would be fantastic to forge a relationship between ourselves as a non profit organisation and your school.

Some examples of how your school may further help include: cake sales, mufti days, sponsored activities.

Thank you for taking the time to read through this information, and we really look forward to hearing back from you.

Yours Faithfully,

Michelle McGunnagle (Founder of organisation) & the Bear for an Angel admin team
